Report

Written By- Saisaranya Menon

On February 1, 2022, the Studio Club of The Department of Mass Media and Communication Skills of Bunts Sangha's S.M Shetty College of Science, Commerce, and Management Studies organized the 'Y-Talk' via zoom application.

In the presence of faculty members, BAMMC Coordinator Prof. Kalpana Rai Menon, Prof. Neena Sharma and Prof. Mahesh Savale. The Y-Talk was hosted by Pragati Tiwari (Editor-in-Chief, Samachar Incharge) and was moderated by Ishika Shetty (Studio Connect Incharge) from SYBAMMC.

The topic of Y-talk session was 'Item number in films- Objectification of Women or just Creative License' and the event was judged by Dr Tushar Sambhare (Coordinator BSC IT)

The panelist for the Y-Talk consisted of five students, Saurabh Sode (TYBAMMC-J), Saisaranyya Menon (SYBAMMC), Harman Singh (SYBAMMC), Harsh Jambhere (FYBCOM), Jay Panchal (SYBAMMC), Hrithika Prakash Shetty (TYBAMMC-AD) and Pragati Tiwari (TYBAMMC- J). The alumnis Pankaj Devrai, Tanya Haldar and Hetan Mav were also part of the session.

The panel discussion began with the panelists sharing their opinion on the topic. The popular opinion in the debate was those item songs are played in public and exposed to a lot of people, both young and old playing a huge role in corrupting their mind-sets, the lyrical content in item songs lean towards the objectification of women and these songs are engulfed with erotic representation and vulgar phrases, conceptualizing women in a very wrong way and therefore it should not be encouraged. Moreover, its effects on rural people, discussion on the aspect of body positivity, marketing and the profit-making aspect were all covered. The debate was thought-provoking and the discussion was enlightening.

Prof Neena Sharma led the discussion providing her very insightful perspectives. The moderator and the audience tossed in some questions for the panelists which were rationally answered.

In the end, Judge Dr Tushar Sambare spoke on the topic and it was concluded that speaking up about objectification, educating ourselves, learning and growing and not letting an item song corrupt our minds.

Mr Harman Singh (SYBAMMC) & Harsh Jambhale (FYBCOM), respectively, were awarded the Best speaker from Panel and from the audience. The session came to an end with a vote of thanks by Hrithika Prakash Shetty (Studio President).

Horror cinema in India.

What is a good horror movie? One that gives you chills down your spine, a good adrenaline rush without relying too much on jump scares. Something that scares you even after it's over. As an avid horror movie watcher, it is very difficult to find movies which keep on the edge throughout its runtime. Especially Bollywood horror movies. It might be a little hard to look for logic in horror movies as they're all fantasy based. However, when

As a child I really liked Bhool Bhulaiyaa, a remake (kind of a copy) of the south Indian movie Manichitrathazhu, however, having studied psychology for two years, the way they portray a psychological disorder and the way it is "solved" just makes me cringe. Even though it is an enjoyable movie even now, (Vidya Balan's dance scene was terrifying as a child and its still pretty scary to think of, which was also very well picturized) dialogues like "psychology is the only science without a definition" and completely curing a Dissociative Identity Disorder in a 10-15 minute scene trivializes such disorders.

Recently Netflix India, released a short series called 'Ghost Stories'. Each story was directed by different directors and you could really tell with the way they were filmed. Even though the stories were all mediocre and barely kept my interest, even making me skip the last story directed by Karan Johar, one of the stories caught my interest. It was a zombie based film directed by Dibakar Banerjee. It was a well written, well shot film with an element of comedy, however ending with a cliché "it was all a dream" scene, which spoils the fun.

Most Indian horror movies have the same tropes, making the experience less enjoyable. The 'baba' or priest who comes to perform an exorcism but ends up dying too soon, the main character going on a quest to find the ghosts backstory and giving them a 'proper funeral'. You can just tell how it's going to end from the beginning. There is a lot of room for improvement in the horror genre.

There are movies which do keep you hooked like Karthik calling Karthik, which isn't really a horror

COVID WARRIORS

Covid or coronavirus has come in December 2019. no one could have ever imagined that anything as small as this could change the life of living. school, college, trains, shops, fights, etc. everything was closed, or everything stopped or standstill. no one no what is going on or what we were about what we going to face. to fight this enemy, come forward our covid warriors or our covid heroes.

They are people just like you and me. they are there all around us doctors, nurses, workers, police, watchmen, shopkeepers, covid volunteers, etc. it was because of them we have able to fight with such threatening situations. they worked selflessly day to day out for his because of our lives. they all risk our life because of 135 crores of people's lives.

Doctors and nurses worked day and night, staying away from their families so that could be treated and get back to their families. police stayed outside their houses so that we could be safe inside our houses. covid warriors stay outside his house because of our safety

- Regarding the sudden death of an actor, we can talk about how important is your mental health and it is so important for us to talk about it. They should be heard. Mental health is important.
- Topic should be more debatable and current
- We can talk about mental health, LGBTQIA+ community.
- The topic was something we've spoken about a lot hence the rating but the moderator, panelists and the audience made it an interesting discussion nonetheless, so cheers :)
- Anything to motivate students.
- Lessen the scope of the topic so the discussion doesn't stretch out for hours, xD

Report

The Department of Mass Media and Communication Skills of Bunts Sangha's S.M Shetty College of Science Commerce and Management conducted a 'Filmmaking Workshop' from September 13 to September 24, 2021. Prof. Mangesh Karandikar, Director of the MET Institute and Proprietor of Altercast Media, served as the workshop's mentor. The thirty hour lecture series were held at the Zoom Meeting with two hours of class daily.

There were 20 students in the workshop. The main goal of the workshop was for students to learn about the basics of film making at home with the help of a mobile phone. The topics for the workshop were focused on various camera angles, lighting, phone video editing and audio editing.

During the workshop many advertisements, movies and videos were shared to help students with extensive study about the aspects of filmmaking like camera angles, lighting, and shots. A series of activities were done like story writing, script writing, storyboarding and video editing. The mobile video editing application used for the workshop was KineMaster. KineMaster is an accessible application that provides cuts and zooms, transitions, music, adding text in the videos, removing greenscreen from videos and adding a different background.

A detailed study of a script provided by Prof. Mangesh Karandikar called "The Godfather " and a report on the script was also done as one of the activities. Audio editing like removing of noise, volumes and waves of sounds were taught on an application called Audacity.

By the end of ten days, students had learned to film videos and edit films just by using their phones and with simple and free applications. The last task given was to create a short film using all the techniques taught. It was a beneficial workshop which will help students for their future endeavours.
