Report on Screening of Digital stories in Economics

Stories bring us together, encourage us to understand and empathize, and help us to communicate. Long before paper and books were common and affordable, information passed from generation to generation through this oral tradition of storytelling. Consider Digital Storytelling as the 21st Century version of the age-old art of storytelling with a twist: digital tools now make it possible for anyone to create a story and share it with the world. Digital stories push students to become creators of content, rather than just consumers. Weaving together images, music, text, and voice, digital stories can be created in all content areas and at all grade levels while incorporating the 21st century skills of creating, communicating, and collaborating.

A humble attempt to create digital stories to teach basic concepts in Economics was made with FYBAF students. All 69 students of the class participated team wise to make this effort successful. They created stories on demand, utility, inflation, employment and so on.

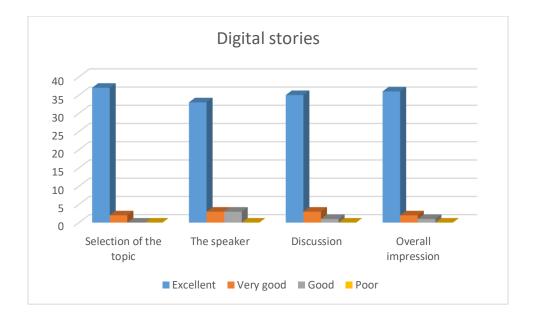

The screening of digital stories was organised on 20th October 2022. Principal Dr. Sriodhara Shetty, Vice Principal CS Sandesha Shetty along with faculty members of Economics Dr. Liji Santosh and Prof. Adya Bharati was present for the occasion. Principal felicitated the students with certificates and Manasi Shetty class representative gave vote of thanks.
